STATE PRESENTS A-ACCELERATOR SITE

State Budget Is $119.5 Million For 1965-1966

By CAROLE MARTIN
United Press International
FRANKFORT, Ky. (UPI) — State Highway Commissioner Henry Ward Thursday announced an operating budget of $119.5 million for the 1965-1966 fiscal year — a record high for the commonwealth.

Ward said, however, that the highway department will not undertake any new state-financed road projects during the first quarter of this fiscal year, except in emergency situations.

The highway commissioner said many purchases and projects "will of necessity" be deferred until after a referendum on the proposed $119 million bond issue held November 3.

"We've got to operate in the first quarter of the year in a way that — in the event the bond issue does not pass — we wouldn't have to shut down completely," Ward said.

"I think it would not be good administration to go blithely along assuming that the bond issue is going to be passed," he remarked.

If the bond issue is voted down, he said, the department's budget would have to be completely reworked in an effort to provide state funds to match federal aid available to Kentucky.

Ward said it took $39 million a year to get $130 million in federal aid. He said that this money had been provided by the state since 1959 by bond issues, but the last proceeds of the 1960 bond issue would be depleted by Dec. 15.

"The alternatives, he suggested, would be to:

— "Give up getting $130 million in federal aid, which of course would be disastrous."

— "To raise taxes."

— "To cut programs, eliminate programs now being provided through state aid."

Ward said that if the department curtailed last year's road projects, which have been running $9-to-$10 million a year, it would not provide enough money to match the federal aid, he said.

Ward said the state Highway Department payroll is not $30 million, he said. "We could make a stab at it but we couldn't get all of it."

Ultimately, it would be up to the legislature to decide what should be done, he said.

The budget is an increase of more than $2 million over the last fiscal year. State road fund receipts total $119 million and funds from other sources provide an additional $12.9 million.

Ward said his department anticipated spending about $169 million on federal aid construction projects, including $39 million in state matching funds.

Christopher Speaker For Kiwanis Club

Maurice Christopher spoke to the Kiwanis club at its regular meeting Thursday night on inventors and inventions. He pointed out that practically every machine and device that we have in the world today will eventually have to be invented all over again.

Even though this is an age of wonders, it is very far from an age of efficiency. Most of our machines are crude and only partially developed. Locomotives, automobiles, electric motors, washing machines, refrigerators and even the common household articles are used every day and yet they remain but crude representations of what they really ought to be, he said.

We need articles which are less wasteful in energy, human time and labor. The inventor starting out to solve a problem should not allow his mind to be shackled by tradition or conventional manufacturing methods be continued. He should make every effort to develop an entirely new article, new in principle, new in results achieved, he told the club.

The Patent office now 175 years old has issued 3,350,000 patents. It approves 1,000 to 1,200 patent applications each week, but rejects perhaps twice as many. The backlog of applications now awaiting decision is about 100,000. Each year checks to the tune of $300,000,000 are made out to American inventors and gadgeteers.

You might say "that has been invented" that's true but did you even stop to think it needs improvement? he said. There are very few basic patents issued in the course of a year, but there are thousands of improvement patents issued, Christopher concluded.

Guests at the meeting included Charles McDowell, a Kiwanian from Providence, Ky., and Sgt. Leroy Cunningham of the ROTC Department, Murray State College.

State Court Of Appeals All Through For Summer Period

FRANKFORT, Ky. (UPI) — Members of the state Court of Appeals today prepared for a summer adjournment until first September, but they'll not soon be forgotten by the average Kentucky taxpayer.

The high court's 1965 spring term was highlighted by what is probably the most significant ruling in decades, in terms of dollars and cents, to the average Kentuckian.

It had long been the custom in Kentucky to assess property well below the price it would bring on the open market. The average real estate assessment, for instance, hovered around 27 per cent.

But beginning next Jan. 1, the appellate court ruled last month that all property must be assessed at 100 per cent of its fair cash value in accordance with the state's 74-year-old Constitution.

It was only one of more than 150 decisions handed down this spring, but the impact it caused it still reverberating across the commonwealth.

While the Democratic state administration has promised to exercise its influence to see that local taxing districts reduce rates accordingly, some Republican candidates for the General Assembly apparently plan to use the ruling as a political issue.

In other important decisions, the high court:

— Struck down local right-to-work laws on the ground the federal Taft-Hartley Act gave the power to enact such laws to states and territories only.

— Upheld the conviction of a college student working in Hazard for the common law crime of criminal libel.

Appellate Judge John S. Palmore said the court's backlog of cases is lessening. Consideration now is being given to all cases finally submitted prior to Jan. 1.

The Almanac

By United Press International
Today is Friday, July 2, the 182nd day of 1965 with 182 to follow.

The moon is approaching its first quarter.

The morning stars are Saturn and Jupiter.

The evening stars are Venus and Mars.

Olaf the Fifth... king of Norway.

was born on this day in 1903.

On this day in history:

In 1776, the Continental Congress formally passed the Declaration of Independence from Britain. The document was signed two days later.

In 1890, Congress passed the Sherman Anti-trust Act, later to be used to break up business trusts.

In 1937, famed American aviator Amelia Earhart and her copilot were lost in the Pacific Ocean. They were never found.

In 1944, President Johnson signed the civil rights bill into law.

A thought for the day — The English satirist, Jonathan Swift, said: "Every man desires to live long, but no man would be old."

"HARRY SHOT ME!"

Watchers of TV westerns know the scene by heart. Old Ed, the victim of a shooting, lies near death. The sheriff bends over to catch his last words. Ed says:

On TV, that usually settles the identity of the killer. Big in real life, it Harry were charged with murder, would a statement like Ed's be valid in court?

There are arguments both ways. The main problem is that Ed's accusation, when repeated later by the sheriff, is more hearsay — that is, secondhand evidence. And the law has good reasons to be wary of hearsay.

For one thing, Ed's charge was not made under oath. For another, he is no longer available for cross-examination by the person he has accused. For another, a man in his death throes might not be calm enough or rational enough to make a dependable declaration on this subject.

Yes, there are also good reasons for accepting the evidence. As a practical matter, it may offer the best possible chance of bringing a killer to justice. Furthermore, the very necessity of death is likely to induce the victim to be truthful. In the words of a dying Shakespearean character:

"What in the world should make me now deceive."

Since I must lose the use of all deceptions.

Balancing these conflicting considerations, the law generally does accept a deathbed accusation as evidence — but only under careful safeguards.

For example, it is necessary that the victim not only be near death but be aware of it. If he still has hope of surviving, he might not be sufficiently motivated to tell the truth.

But if all hope has fled, his words may be heard in court. In fact, if he is too far gone to speak, even gestures alone may serve. In one case, a dying woman's squeeze of the hand, in response to a question, helped to send her slayer to jail. In another case, a nod of the head was held enough.

Of course, the principal works both ways. A victim's dying words may be used in court not only to prove that the defendant is the killer but also to prove that he is not. As with all rules of law, what may convict the guilty may also free the innocent.

Cleveland Pitching Brings Back Memories Of 1954

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

Take a look at the Cleveland Indians' brilliant pitching staff and the mind automatically recalls the glory year of 1954.

That was the year in which the Indians' ascended to the American League pennant with a record 111 victories. They did it mainly on pitching—with a staff headed by 20-game winners Bob Lemon and Early Wynn backed up by such stars as Mike Garcia, Art Houtteman, Bob Feller and Hal Newhouse.

It'll be a while until the experts rate the current staff over that fabulous staff of '54, but the fact is that Bobby Siebert, Ralph Terry, Luis Tiant and Sam McDowell are carving their own niche in Cleveland history.

The current staff has similar strength-in-depth with Siebert at 9-3 and a 2.50 earned run average, Terry at 8-3 and 2.68, Tiant at 7-3 and 3.44 and McDowell at 9-4 and 2.39. It leads the AL in shutouts with eight and with 508 strikeouts breaks the major league record of 1182 strikeouts set by the 1964 Cleveland staff.

Wins Third Straight

Siebert scored his third consecutive victory and the Indians gained their 17th win in 30 games Thursday night with a 7-3 decision over the Washington Senators. In a year and half against the Senators, Siebert has yielded just five earned runs in 45 1-3 innings for an average of 1.00. He has struck out 28 batters and allowed only 28 hits.

He fanned 11 and was nipped for five hits, including Ken McMullen's homer behind a "seven-bit" attack that included three singles by Max Alvis and Leon Wagner's 19th home run.

Richie Allen Annoys All The Sportswriters Around N.L.

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

It's practically unanimous around the National League that Richie Allen of the Philadelphia Phillies is an annoying fellow.

He annoys some sportswriters because when asked a question he usually chuckles twice and says nothing. He gave the Phillies' front office its last spring when he staged a determined and successful holdout before signing his 1965 contract. And now he's making himself public enemy No. 1 to N.L. pitchers.

The square-shouldered Philadelphia third baseman was the N.L. Rookie of the Year in 1964 when he batted .318 with 28 homers and 61 runs scored in 155 games of the sophomore jinx.

Allen took over the lead Thursday night when the Phillies beat the Braves 2-1 for their fifth straight victory. Allen went 1-for-2 in the eighth and fell five points off a .500 mark and fell five points from .337.

Ray Culp, one of the Phillies' off-again-on-again pitchers, came through with a three-hitter for his fifth win against four losses while Ken Johnson suffered his loss. Culp was tagged for the Milwaukee run in the fifth on singles by Mark Jones and Denis Menke and a ground ball that didn't allow another hit until Torre singled with two out in the ninth.

The Phillies scored their first run in the second inning on Allen's walk and a triple by Gay Dalkemper. Culp scored the winning run in the eighth when he singled and came around on a sacrifice, an infield out and Johnny Callison's single.

The Chicago Cubs beat the first-place Los Angeles Dodgers 6-3. The St. Louis Cardinals rallied for a 7-6 decision over the Pittsburgh Pirates and the New York Mets defeated the Cincinnati Reds 5-1, in other N.L. action.

In the American League, Cleveland beat Washington 7-2. Baltimore added New York 4-3 and Detroit topped Boston 2-1.

Knocks In Four

Glenn Beckert drove in four runs with two homers and Ernie Banks also had two hits for the Cubs, who closed Johnny Podres' 15th win against five victories. Lindy McDaniel must out the Dodgers for a 2-33 insurance of relief to win his third game as a coach. Ted Abernathy finished the game.

The Cardinals beat the Pirates for the 16th straight time at Pittsburgh's Forbes Field by scoring four runs in the eighth inning and three in the ninth. Singles by Phil Caglinaro, Curt Flood and Ken Boyer and Mike Shannon's double propelled the three ninth-inning runs and lifted relief pitcher Hal Woodeshick to his fifth victory. Manny Mota had three hits for the Pirates, whose two-run ninth-inning rally fell a run short.

Ed Kranepool hit a two-run homer and Ron Swoboda a two-run triple to pave the way for the Mets. Al Jackson to win his fourth game. Jackson pitched a seven-hitter and struck out seven in his fourth game, who struck out seven in six innings but was tagged for three runs and six hits.

An investment in Your Future ...ATTEND CHURCH

"For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also"

NEW FRONTIERS

We are preparing a completely new way of life for our children. Every day we hear talk of rockets and missiles. This is truly the space age. However, history has taught us that man's need for God is ever present, and new frontiers have never changed this.

TAKE YOUR FAMILY TO CHURCH

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Miss Bowers and Lt. William R. Oliver Are Married At Calvary Church In Bel Air, Md.

Lt. and Mrs. William R. Oliver

Miss Karlene L. Bowers, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Bowers of Bel Air, Maryland, became the bride of Lieutenant William R. Oliver, son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Oliver of Murray.

The ceremony was read on Saturday, June 19, at the Calvary Baptist Church at Bel Air by Rev. W. P. Watson in a lovely setting—palm, gladioli and candelabras.

Given in marriage by her cousin, Howard C. Pimental, groom's uncle, bride wore a floor-length gown of silk crepe, styled with a seven-neckline, fitted bodice, long pointed sleeves and a chapel train. The bodice and skirt were accented with a black lace. The chapel veil was arranged delicately into a bustle effect for the reception. Her veil of silk tulle was attached to a crown of lace and seed pearls. She carried a cascade of white miniature carnations, Stephanotis, and a removable corsage of butterfly orchids.

Mrs. Phyllis Martin, sister of the bride, of Edgewood, was the matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Barbara Stouts and Miss Susan Shultz of Abingdon, Miss Donna Reed of Bel Air, and Mrs. Wills Harbills of Aberdeen.

Each of the attendants was attired in a pale yellow floor-length gown featuring an empire waist accented with pearls, scoop neckline, three-quarter length sleeves, and a detachable train. Their matching headpieces were yellow roses covered with net.

The matron of honor carried a nosegay of yellow carnations and the bridesmaids carried nosegays of yellow carnations and white daisies.

The flower girl, Miss Sally Pimental, cousin of bride, of Bel Air, wore a yellow floor-length gown with a matching jacket. Her yellow embroidered jacket had a scoop neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. Accented the gown was a long sash which fell softly to the floor. Her headpiece was of yellow and white daisies.

Master Keith Pimental of Bel Air, cousin of the bride, was the ring bearer.

Donald Oliver of Murray, brother of the groom, served as best man. The ushers were Lt. Ronald Stone, Lt. Michael Dougherty of Bel Air, Lt. Gerald Self and Lt. James Mendor of Edgewood.

Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. Berta McFarland Hope of Bel Air—Walter Vreeland—solo "Walk Hand in Hand," "Jesus Joy of Man's Desiring," "The Twenty-third Psalm" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride and groom were a pink mauve pure silk dress with black accessories. Her corsage was a white orchid. The groom's mother chose a pale beige dress with matching accessories and a white orchid corsage.

Reception
Following the wedding a reception was held at the Officers Open Mess, U. S. Army, Edgewood Arsenal, Md., after which the young couple left on a wedding trip through the south.

The bride is a graduate of Bel Air High School and part time student at Harford Junior College. She was employed at Edgewood Arsenal.

Lt. Oliver was graduated from Murray College High School and from Murray State College. The couple will reside in Ames, Iowa, while Mr. Oliver is doing graduate work in chemistry at Iowa State University.

Out of town guests at the wedding included Lt. Col. Ruth P. Taylor of Denver, Colorado; Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Wilson, Mrs. Rita Wilson, and Master Kim Wilson of Murray.

A rehearsal dinner was held at the Officers Open Mess, U. S. Army, Edgewood Arsenal, Md., on Friday evening, June 18, with the groom's parents as the hosts.

Dear Abby . . .

It's A Big Gap!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a teen-age girl, old enough to go with boys, but I've never had a real date. I am sure it's because of my teeth. I have a space between my two front teeth big enough for another tooth to fit into. I attract boys, but when I give them a smile, they are gone. My parents say as long as I can chew okay and my teeth don't ache, I don't need a dentist, as they can't afford it right now. Everyone calls me the gift with her teeth parted in the middle. I know other people have worse problems, but what can I do about mine?

SELF-CONSCIOUS
DEAR SELF: I understand your plea for a pretty smile, and agree with it. Ask your parents to let you find a good dentist with a "time-payment" plan. As a girl's face can be her fortune, her smile can be the "interest."

DEAR ABBY: My husband passed away a very short time ago. While I was still numb from grief, and shock, his mother barged into my home and demanded that I return the furniture which she had given us when we were first married. This furniture was old and she was going to throw it away, but my husband refused to let her take it. I and he and I refused it. I never knew that things given to one's husband had to be returned after his death. Is this legal? My friends tell me I should see a lawyer. Should I?

CONFUSED
DEAR CONFUSED: First, tell your deceased husband's mother that you have been advised to consult a lawyer. After that, I don't think you'll have to.

DEAR ABBY: I read your column every day, but never thought I'd be writing to you. I have a wonderful husband in every respect, except for one. He smokes his cigarettes down until they are about a quarter of an inch long. That is on me. He has to drop it from his mouth into an ash tray because he can't get hold of it with his fingers. He has bought many cigarette holders, but the plastic ones melt and the metal ones have the remains dug out. Once the butt sticks to his lips and I had to use a pair of tweezers to get it off. I've tried telling him about it in private, and even making fun of him in public, but I just can't win. Help!

DEAR HAVE: If you've tried telling him in private and teasing him in public, and haven't been able to win, the only solution is for you to become a "better" user. Sorry, but there is no "teaching a man who doesn't care to learn."

DEAR ABBY: A serviceman once wrote that he was hurt because no respectable girl was allowed to date a man in uniform. He reminded me of a serviceman I once met when I was 16. He also said that he missed being made welcome in a home comparable to that of his parents. I felt so sorry for him that I talked it over with my parents. They trusted me and agreed to give some of these servicemen a chance to show they were gentlemen. Mother got in touch with the chaplain at the base near our town and asked him to send 20 nice young men to our home for a swimming party and barbecue supper. I invited 19 nice girls to be their dates. It was so much fun that we did this every Sunday. The parties were chaperoned by my parents, and I can honestly say that there was not one serviceman who got out of line. I am now 37, happily married, and have three daughters. And if they want to date servicemen, I'm going to let them plan my parents' next far me. Thank you.

PERSONALS

Mrs. Frances McKenzie and her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Axiloff and daughter, Rhys, of Minneapolis, Minnesota, are visiting Mrs. McKenzie's father, Luther Richardson.

BIRTH CONTROL CUTS ABORTION RATE

Corpus Christi, Tex. (WMS): The number of illegal abortions performed in this South Texas city has fallen significantly since birth control information has been made available to women who want it. In 1962, according to local officials, some 348 women were treated at the city hospital following bungled abortions. In 1964, 292 came to the hospital for help, a drop of 16 per cent.

One doctor says that at present he treats as many victims of bungled abortions in a month as he used to in a week. Physicians and other experts credit the decline to the wide acceptance of the birth control pill. About 90 per cent of the women who come to the family planning centers select the oral contraceptive as their preferred method of family planning.

By JACK GAYER

NEW YORK (AP) — The Fourth of July week will be a routine one on the television network as the NBC television play "The Women's Open" golf championship on Sunday and ABC adding a Monday baseball broadcast to its regular Saturday contribution.

Highlights details July 4-10:

NBC will devote an hour to play on final holes of the last round of the Women's Open golf championship at Northfield, N.J.

Secretary of Interior Stewart L. Udall will be the guest on NBC's "Meet the Press."

The second portion of Walt Disney's three-part "The Treasure of the Sun" is on NBC in "The Phantom Station," a chase after the leader of a pack of wild horses brings on an Indian attack.

For the holiday, ABC has a special "major league championship baseball" telecast. In all time zones except the New York and Detroit

TV From Mars Possibility

By JOSEPH L. MYLER

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Live television from Mars? Not impossible, of course, but hold on — maybe it's not. Consider the last.

The space people talk of landing men on Mars in the mid-1960s. By that time science says we'll have perfected the art of using light-beam light for deep space communications impossible with radio.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) has been conducting experiments with laser tracking of a couple of satellites. Explorers 22 and 27.

Results of the experiments were evaluated this week at NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center, Greenbelt, Md., by U.S. British, and French scientists who participated in them.

Encouraging Results

Said Goddard's Henry H. Plotkin, "the results were encouraging" for the future of deep space communications. Said Roland H. Chase of NASA headquarters, "real time no delay television at planetary distances appears to be in the cards."

Mrs. Leonard, who is currently laser light only a few years ago, its potentialities appear boundless. Its beam is extremely narrow. It is extremely intense. It functions on a single wavelength, whereas ordinary light is a chaotic jumble of wavelengths.

Light is electromagnetic radiation, the same as radio. But it operates at much higher frequencies. If you could get a single wavelength beam of controllable light, you could communicate it like radio to carry pictures and sound. The capacity, however, would be millions of times greater.

Hit A Satellite

All NASA tried to do with Explorers 22 and 27 was to find out if it could aim a beam of laser light at a satellite accurately enough to hit it and get an observable reflection back.

If you could do that, by measuring the "time of flight" you could fix more precisely than ever before the satellite's orbit, the distance between tracking stations, and the shape of the earth as indicated by variations in the satellite's orbital path.

The experiments with Explorers 22 and 27 proved that this could be done. As Plotkin said, this finding is not particularly world shaking, but it does prove that there are "no mysterious effects" which rule out deep space communications in the future.

TROOPS WITHDRAW

NEW DELHI (AP) — Indian troops Thursday began withdrawing from the Rann of Kutch in accordance with the terms of a cease-fire signed with Pakistan.

How to kill 'em? UK Agricultural Service says use the 50 per cent strength vegetable powder of Dieldrin at one tablespoonful per gallon of water, or the vegetable powder of Malathion at two tablespoonfuls per gallon of water, or one tablespoonful of the Malathion emulsifiable concentrate in a gallon of water. Spray foliage to runoff stage. The carefully because this stuff is toxic to human beings.

The UK release had spoutful which is wrong.

Someone trying to learn English has a difficult time because it is difficult to know how a sound is made, because the sound is different in different words.

Take "ough" for instance. It is "oo" in through. It is "ou" in enough. It is "uf" in rough. It is "off" in tough.

How anyone could learn English is beyond us.

Senator Hugh Scott, Republican from Pennsylvania, points out that if the president wants to maintain a truly bipartisan foreign policy he must bear in mind the philosophy once expressed by the late Republican Senator Arthur Vandenberg: "We'll stand with you on the ground, but we'd like to be consulted at the take-off."

XB78 PERFORMS

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, CALIF. (UPI) — America's trigonometric XB78 streaked up to 1,870 miles an hour over six states Thursday in its 11th test flight.

More than 80 minutes of the 1 hour, 44 minute flight were at speeds twice that of sound, during which tests were made of the XB78's ability to perform with its wing tips folded at a 65-degree angle.

North American Aviation test pilot Alvin White and Van Shepard flew the craft to a height of 68,000 feet

Wills Fielder, 70, of Murray, is shown above with a wheel chair which has been loaned to him free of charge by the local VFW. Mr. Fielder suffered a stroke last November. Ed Fielder, District Manager for National Organization Service is directing the annual magazine subscription campaign sponsored by the VFW of this county to raise funds for the sickroom equipment fund. Each representative will have a letter of introduction signed by officers of the VFW Post.
